JBJS Case Connector, edited by Thomas W. Bauer, MD, PhD, and Ronald W. Lindsey, MD, is the most prominent journal devoted exclusively to publishing case reports on rare or unusual musculoskeletal conditions. This powerful tool is designed to harness the unique value of case reports, recognizing that they:

- Help to identify new conditions, procedures, and potentially devastating outcomes
- Often provide the only guidance available in unusual situations
- Inspire researchers to delve into new areas
- Offer a valid avenue for early-career researchers, non-academic clinicians, residents, and medical students to contribute to the orthopaedic literature

7 Excellent Reasons to Submit Your Report to JBJS Case Connector:

1. High-quality content
   JBJS CC upholds the extremely high standards of all JBJS journals, including rigorous double-blind peer review.

2. Clinical usefulness
   This growing database of 3,500+ reports enables surgeons to search in real time for similar cases; determine diagnostic approaches, treatments, and long-term outcomes; identify emerging trends; and distinguish between truly rare cases and related instances of larger problems.

3. International perspective
   Submissions come from all over the globe.

4. Innovative use of technology
   JBJS CC encourages video submissions and offers enhanced digital experiences with whole-slide imaging for select histology figures.

5. PubMed indexing
   JBJS CC is now indexed in PubMed, providing the widest possible exposure and audience.

6. Prompt review
   Our helpful professional staff will guide you efficiently through the submission process.

7. No submission or publication fees
